

Food On The Run: Light Bites and Beautiful Breakfasts

Bo journo Bo journo Bo journo FOOD ON THE RUN books are a combination of inexpensive, very fast food and easy to produce. Each book gives a small selection of quick tasty food that can be made by anyone.

Now we have taken the books a stage further and introduced them in combination with a website and other goodies on PAULS LUNCH CLUB.

Here live online I will dispatch someone to the shops sourced buy, return home, cook the food live online and feed it to me.

The essence of PAULS LUNCH CLUB is to allow others to be included in my lunch where they can follow the live webcam, tweet whilst Im online and then Skype before or after a true inclusive experience. They can even cook a similar meal.

All proceeds of this book will go to Hopscotch, a Childrens Charity local to Edinburgh About Paul Di Ciacca By the age of 12 I realised that my body didnt always do what my brain was telling it to do. When I was 15 I read an article in the Sunday Times magazine all about ms and thought thats me I then knew my life was going to be an interesting one. Socially and with relationships, I think my ideas stayed somewhat infantile but progressed astoundingly well. Physically my body changed as would be expected, upwards with age and downwards with ms. So I lived my life on a edge of a cliff, moving along doing wonderful things without fear of failure, leaving my self confidence way above my ability. I could move to the left and fall comfortably, and could get myself back up again and change direction to try again. My epitaph will read paul should not have done that. Only once was I pushed so far to the right that im still falling 30 years on, it took me 9 months to be able to cope again in life. I now have an almost indestructible self belief in my being though my abilities are almost non existent. I have little fear of trying new things failure is not an option and even if I cant physically there is always someone happy to help me along the road.
